RT ECP President to Address CPrL Insurance Topics at the AGC's 2021 Conference on Surety Bonding and Construction Risk Management

Hamilton, New Jersey (May 12, 2021) – Jeff Slivka, president of RT Specialty's Environmental and Construction Professional (ECP) Practice, will address the methods for "Navigating the Ups & Downs of the Contractors Professional Liability (CPrL) Insurance Market" at the 2021 Conference on Surety Bonding and Construction Risk Management hosted by the Associated General Contractors of America (AGC). The hour-long educational session highlighting the ever-evolving CPrL marketplace will be held at 9:45 a.m. EST on June 4th at the Hyatt Regency Coconut Point Resort & Spa in Bonita Springs, Florida.

"CPrL insurance now covers far more than professional liability," says Slivka. "Originally intended to protect construction firms from the negligent acts, errors or omissions incurred during the performance of their professional services, the coverage has morphed significantly with a new array of rectification/mitigation, pollution liability, technology and faulty workmanship enhancements. This session will not only explore the latest programs, but also CPrL contractual terms and conditions."

Throughout the presentation, attendees will learn about the policy's major coverage parts and contractual pitfalls that can negatively impact the insured's CPrL insurance and their ability to protect against potentially crippling claims and catastrophes.
